Express Yourself

Before half term, we celebrated Children's Mental Health Week. This years theme was 'My Voice Matters', a week dedicated to empowering children to express themselves. Throughout the week, children made a pledge to be kind to others and support their families and communities. They were sponsored by family members and friends for doing this. On the Friday, we culminated our week of celebrations with a 'Dress to Express' Day, and children were encouraged to connect with others by asking them how their outfits expressed their personalities. All of our children looked amazing, wearing outfits inspired by their favourite colours, hobbies, characters and by their cultural heritage. Thank you to all our families for their contributions

Year 5 British museum

Nursery Story telling session

Our nursery was very fortunate to have an interactive storytelling session this week delivered by staff from Plaistow library. The session was designed to support oracy and reading and was a perfect end to our traditional tales' topic. The storytelling session was based around the story 'Goldilocks and the three bears', which the children were familiar with. It was a great opportunity for them to retell the story and join in with repeated phrases. The visit was fun and engaging for our children and was an enjoyable and fantastic experience.

Mr Freuland's Book Review

It's Wild Book Day! The day the pictures escape from the books. The dragons take flight with the rockets and witches. The pirates go digging for treasure and riches (on diggers, naturally). They're off to explore. But they mustn't be seen. . The illustrations are packed with characters children will recognise - from the Three Little Pigs (and Wilbur the pig and Charlotte the spider) to the fairy godmother, Alice (in Wonderland) and Mowgli, along with wizards, dinosaurs, princesses and many more. The idea that all the characters leap off the pages when you're not looking will enchant young readers.
